Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—“I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do.”—Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

HEARTS WRUNG BY SCENES OF BITTER GRIEF

MOTHER FINDS BODIES OF TWO SONS, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW AND GRANDCHILD.

True Awfulness of Tragedy Most Apparent Where Rows of Dead Lay in Morgue.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 26.—At the Second Regiment armory, where the bodies of the dead are laid in rows for identification, the events of the tragedy are most apparent. Mary Maran, 73 years old, went there late at night, seeking her two sons. She saw her boys, her daughter-in-law and her grandson leave home Saturday morning to make the trip on the Eastland. She went to the corner with them and waved goodbye as they took a street car.

Later in the day she heard there had been an accident, but it was not until late in the evening that she learned that there had been loss of life. When her sons had not returned at midnight, she made inquiry and was told there were many bodies at the armory and thither she made her way.

Mrs. Maran had made the trip along one row and part way back when she uttered a cry and fell across the form of a youth. It was her son, Tom. Policemen tried to dissuade her from continuing the search, but she persisted and ten minutes later found the body of her daughter-in-law. In the last row, lying side by side, she found the bodies of her other son and his child. The disaster leaves her alone. Not a relative survives and she is poor.

KISSED WIFE

And Prepared for Death in Death
Hull. But Werres Rescued.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 26.—One of the tragedies of the disaster was enacted inside the steel hull of the Eastland during the hours that intervened between the time the boat capsized and the cutting of holes that would permit of the rescue of survivors.

George Olinger, and his wife, Elizabeth, were among those dragged out after the holes in the hull had been cut.

“When the boat rolled over, I grabbed Elizabeth and we both scrambled to the upper side,” Olinger said. “We clung there to a post or brace and looking down, we could see the water pouring in below us.”

“It rushed along by the stars and spurted through port holes. Men and women were floundering around and screaming as the water rose. In the place where we were there were about 20 women and seven men. The men assisted the women to places where they could cling until help arrived but many sank during the first five minutes and did not come up.”

“I kissed Elizabeth and we made preparations to die. Some of the women became hysterical. The rescuers started to pull some of the men and women through the port holes, but they were too small and they were forced to drop a number of them back.”

HEROIC YOUTH

Saved Sweetheart by Stout Heart and Strong Muscles.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 26.—Five excursionists were saved through the activity of Robert F. Snyder, 19 year old boy, a machinist apprentice who had boarded the boat as a member of the holiday party, in company with Miss Bessie Straan, his sweetheart.

“We were thrown under the boat when she capsized,” said Snyder. “As soon as I came to the surface I saw Bessie. I held her with my legs and swam toward the boat with my arms. Just as I got started, two women grabbed me around the neck and held me so tight, that they dragged us under the water. I managed to fight my way to the top and came up close to the boat. I saw a board and caught hold of it. With the aid of this board, I raised the three girls to the surface and then caught a long piece of hose that ran along the side of the boat. The girls caught this too. After we had rested for a minute, I raised them to the side of the boat. Then I dived after one of Bessie's friends, but could not find her. As I arose, I saw two women alongside of me. They were under a projection of the top deck of the boat which was clear of the water. I caught one of them by the waist and pulled her on the hull. The other must have drowned. I tried to find Bessie's sister, and could not locate her, but managed to raise one woman who was struggling in the water to a refuge on the hull. By that time my strength was about gone and I wrapped Bessie in some paper and took her home.”

J. Peterson, his wife and her sister were on the second deck on the port side and had the experience of being washed completely through the boat after a partition had given way.

“I can swim and I rose with the water,” said Peterson.

“The partition above me gave way, at least some of the windows did, and swept up through the cabin. I caught hold of a long beam supporting the upper deck with some others. This beam gave way, though, and I had to swim again. While I was hanging on my wife came up where I had been and a little later in the same place her sister appeared. They had been carried up through the same break in the partition I had passed through although neither of them could swim.”

MOTHER'S GRASP

Loosened on Babe; She Was Saved
Entire Family Lost.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 26.—Otto Brandt was sent by his sister, Mrs. Mary Braitch, of Congress Park, to find her husband and four children from whom she became separated when the vessel capsized. He located them all among the bodies in the morgue.

Mrs. Braitch and her family were together when the Eastland turned over. She had her baby in her arms when they were thrown into the water, but trying to catch at something the infant slipped from her grasp. Mrs. Braitch was taken home in a hysterical condition, but hoped that some member of her family had been saved.

“She sent me down,” said Brandt, “and said ‘I know that at least one of my babies must be alive.’ I found the bodies here and had them brought together. I should have gone home long ago but I cannot tell her that all have gone.”

STIFFEN

The man into custody. This was not done, however, and nothing more was seen of the fugitive until after the train reached Chicago Junction. The train crew was at lunch when Stiffen was seen walking through the railroad yards. Horlick, Gleckler and Beeks took him into custody and turned him over to the Junction authorities.

When arrested, Stiffen limped badly. He explained that he had met with an accident while working with a threshing machine gang near Akron a week ago.

The leg was in bad shape. There are two wounds on the right leg between the knee and the ankle. The wound had been rudely bandaged and was badly infected.

Stiffen had shaved the hair from the skin around the wound and told the officers that a piece of flesh which protruded in such a manner as to make bandaging difficult, had been cut off with the razor.

Stiffen's razor was found at the end of a string which was tied around his neck, after the fashion of hoboes who find it difficult to carry the instrument in their pockets.

Stiffen admitted that he was associated with Athey and Sorrel in several of the “jobs” already confessed to by Sorrel. He denied complicity in the McCleery burglary, the Licking Laundry burglary, and several other minor jobs. He admitted that he was “in” on the cracking of the safe in the Newark Provision company's office and the Wyeth-Scott burglary.

He also admitted that he was with the other two men in the burglary of the Kates grocery but declared that he was not in any of the places, his part in the work being that of the outside man or “lookout.” He said the planning of the various burglaries was done by Athey and Sorrel.

He told Chief Sheridan that Athey always produced the “soup” or explosives used in the safe cracking operations. Stiffen denied that he knew where the explosive was secured or where it was concealed. He claims Athey always kept this fact to himself.

The offense on which Stiffen was arraigned, was the blowing of the safe in the Newark Provision company's office. He waived examination on the charge and was bound over to the grand jury under bond in the sum of $1,000.

The arrest of Stiffen was the final act of the police department in the apprehension of a trio which is being held responsible for a dozen crimes here in the past few months. The climax of this series of crimes was the shooting of Officer Roscowan, wounds being inflicted which caused the officer's death on the morning of July 10.

Immediately after the arrest of Athey and Sorrel two days after the shooting, a general order for Stiffen's arrest was sent broadcast over the country. A reward of $175 was offered for the man's arrest. Of this amount $150 was offered by the county commissioners, the additional $25 being offered by another individual interested in the capture of the man.

The division of the reward rests with the county commissioners who will no doubt turn it over to the three men who took Stiffen into custody. The division of the amount will rest upon the agreement of the men themselves. The $25 offered by the individual will be paid when this agreement is reached.

ORDERS GIVEN TO PROTECT A BORDER TOWN

GENERAL FUNSTON WILL NOT HAVE TO REFER MATTER TO WASHINGTON

If Carranza Troops Endanger Americans
In Attack to be Made on Nogales.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 26.—Major General Funston reported today that despite warning to General Carranza and his assurances that there would be no fighting in border towns endangering Americans, General Calles was assembled with 2,000 Carranza troops at Santa Barbara, twenty miles from Nogales, and apparently was preparing to attack the border town.

General Funston has orders to repel with force any attack on American territory without waiting to refer the question to Washington. If the Mexican factions battle there Funston's artillery is expected to shell them out to a safe distance from the border.

AMERICAN

aggravation of the situation between Germany and the United States.

Although they hesitated today, in the absence of details, to construe the act as coming within the warning of the last American note, which pointed out that further violation of international law affecting American citizens, would be regarded as “deliberately unfriendly,” the view taken was that Germany, in effect, had ignored and disregarded an earlier note sent in connection with the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye, by the German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

In that communication the United States vigorously asserted its position that even though an American ship carried contraband of war, it was peculiarly protected from destruction by the stipulations of the Prussian-American treaty of 1828. Flax, which was being carried by the Leelanaw, was declared absolute contraband by Germany on April 18, as retaliation against the British contraband declaration. While precedents of international law in recent years, supported particularly by the Declaration of London, have recognized the right of a belligerent to sink a neutral vessel carrying contraband if the ship was certain of condemnation by a prize court, the action has been limited to extreme cases of necessity when the taking of a prize into port would involve danger to the vessel making the capture.

Irrespective of the principles of international law noted on that point however, the United States, has in its correspondence with Germany, insisted on the application of the following article 13 of the treaty:

“In the case of one of the contracting parties being engaged in war with any other power, to prevent all the difficulties and misunderstandings that usually arise respecting such as arms, ammunition and military stores of every kind, no such articles carried in the vessel, or by the subjects or citizens of either party to the enemies of the other, shall be deemed contraband, so as to induce confiscation or condemnation and a loss of property to individuals. Nevertheless, it shall be lawful to stop such vessels and articles, and to detain them for such length of time as the captors may think necessary to prevent the inconvenience or damage that might ensue from their proceeding, paying, however, reasonable compensation for the loss such assets shall occasion to the proprietors.”

“But in the case supposed of a vessel stopped for articles of contraband, if the matter of the vessel stopped will deliver out the goods supposed to be of contraband nature, he shall be admitted to do it, and the vessel shall not in that case be carried into any port, nor further detained, but shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage.”

Germany immediately admitted her liability under the foregoing article when the Frye was sunk and agreed to pay damages, but expressed with view that the sinking of the vessel was not a “violation” of the treaty but a right that had inferentially been granted by the treaty itself.

Germany replied, however, that she could not admit that the destruction of the Frye was a violation of the treaty. “On the contrary,” said Berlin, “article 13 expressly reserves to the party at war the right to stop the carrying of contraband and to detain the contraband; it follows then that if it cannot be accomplished in any other way the stopping of the supply may in the extreme case be affected by the destruction of the ship carrying it. As a matter of course, the obligation of the party at war to pay compensation to the interested persons of the neutral contracting party remains in force whatever be the manner of stopping the supply.”

The United States, as late as June 24, replied that the government of the United States cannot concur in this conclusion.

The case of the Leelanaw, it was indicated by officials, would be argued along the same lines, as soon as an official report was received. Saving of the lives of the crew, they thought, could not allay the feeling of the American government that Germany had not only violated international law in the case of Americans traveling on unresisting merchantmen, but had four times, in the present war, violated a treaty of nearly a century's standing. Under that treaty the American government considers that the American ships Gulfport and Nebraskan, which were torpedoed without warning, the William P. Frye and the Leelanaw should have been immune from violence of any kind.

STOCK MARKET FEELS EFFECT; ON WAR SHARES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, July 26.—The stock market was shaken up severely today by the news of the torpedoing of the Leelanaw. In the early trading the group of issues known as war stocks, which have been the center of speculative activity on account of the large orders for munitions of war, which these companies have received, were active and strong. Gains among such stocks as Bethlehem Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Colorado Fuel, Republic Steel and Westinghouse Electric ran from 1 to 14 points.

On the announcement that the Leelanaw had been torpedoed, the market broke abruptly. Not only were early gains crossed off, but prices fell materially below Saturday's close. Westinghouse quickly showed a net loss of 5 points, Crucible Steel and American Locomotive 4, American Can and Baldwin Locomotive 3 1/2, United States Steel 1. There were declines of 1 to 2 points in the representative railroad shares. St. Paul established a new low mark at 77 3/4.

NO COMMENT

Made by President When Informed of Leelanaw's Sinking.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cornish, N. H., July 26.—Unofficial word of the sinking of the Leelanaw by a German submarine was conveyed to President Wilson today but he declined to make any comment for publication, pending the receipt of full official details. The news that the crew of the steamer was saved was received with relief by members of the presidential party.

CARELESSNESS

of Police Healey, and Coroner Hoffman. Immediately after the conference, at which investigation plans also will be made, Coroner Hoffman said, he will again call together the jury which was impaneled Saturday and a trip to the Eastland will be made. The jurors will make a thorough inspection and then adjourn indefinitely.

“I believe that there are a number of bodies still in the water held down by wreckage or the weight of the boat and that it will be impossible to recover these until the Eastland is raised,” the coroner declared.

An effort will be made to complete the identification of bodies at the Second Regiment Armory today. Only fourteen of the 728 cared for there were unidentified this morning. Early estimates of the loss are being constantly lowered, but there is only speculation to indicate the number still in the vessel or in the river.

A fund of $300,000 will be ready today for general relief work, it is announced. Relief committees which were appointed yesterday, took up their work early today. The finance committee will meet in the mayor's office this morning to complete the plans for raising a fund of $200,000 to which the Western Electric company has added $100,000.

Deputies from the state attorney's office began the work of summoning members of the crew who are known to have escaped. Among the men sought is said to be George Munger, of Kalamazoo, Mich., pursuer of the Eastland and an important witness.

Many spectators of the disaster will be examined by city officials who plan an investigation separate from those of the federal and county officials.

Steamboat inspection officials met with United States District Attorney Clyne and several others today, and while no announcement was made as to what transpired at the meeting, it was hinted that plans were formulated for conducting the federal investigation so as not to have it conflict with the state and city investigation.

Dickerson H. Hoover, acting supervising inspector general, and Charles H. Westcott, district supervisor, attended the conference. Mr. Clyne, before the meeting said:

“We have no plans formulated as yet. That is the purpose of the conference in the steamboat inspector's office.”

An official of the federal department of justice and a representative of the state's attorney office are also said to have been present at the conference.

Late this afternoon it was announced it would take ten days to raise the steamer and that the total number of bodies inside would not be known until the raising is completed.

Employees of the Western Electric company took their usual places in the big plants of the West Side today. They stood idle and silent while the foreman passed through and checked off the missing. There were many places unoccupied. The foreman jotted down the names of the men, women, girls and boys who last Friday left their work never to return.

Horse Ran Away.

A horse frightened at an automobile in North Fourth street on Sunday afternoon, and the runaway was stopped only by running into a telegraph pole. The animal was driven out of a side street and became frightened at a passing machine, and started running north on Fourth street until it hit a pole. The horse was knocked down, and one shaft on the buggy was broken, but the driver escaped uninjured.

Putting the “Eat” in Whole Wheat

The whole wheat grain is without doubt the most perfect food given to man. But you don't want to eat raw wheat—it would be imperfectly digested if you did eat it. Whole wheat bread made of so-called “whole wheat flour” is not much better. It serves to stimulate peristalsis (bowel movement), but the body gets little or no nutriment from it. All the nutritive elements in the whole wheat grain are supplied in a digestible form in

Shredded Wheat

It is the shredding process that put the “Eat” in Shredded Wheat. Try one or more of these crisp, delicious little loaves of baked wheat for breakfast with milk or cream.

C. A. C. WALLOP HEWITTS IN SHORT GAME YESTERDAY

(By M. J. Mills.)

The C. A. C. of the Capital City League walked all over the Hewitts in a seven inning engagement at Wehrle Park Sunday afternoon, the Newark boys winning by a score of 14 to 1. Carpenter allowed the Hewitts but three hits.

Newark players were arrayed in their shagging garments and they potted out a total of 14 hits for 22 bases. They ran bases at will, stealing eight times. Manger's home run in the second inning with Wratten on base, was a feature of the game.

Hewitt's first inning: T. Marshall struck out; McCarthy dropped N. Marshall's third strike, and out at first; J. Marshall scroumled out to Carr. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Newark's first inning: Winters W. Carr safe on N. Marshall's error; Wratten sacrificed; Toole to J. Marshall; on a passed ball Carr scoring; Manger safe on Williams error; Boie going to third; Manger stole second; Cashdollar walked; Allen singled to left; Boie scoring; McCarthy sent a roller to second; Manger scoring and Cashdollar out at plate; J. SATISFACTORY CONDITIONS IN U. S. PREVAILING

In a weekly letter reviewing financial and trade conditions, Henry Clews the New York banker says in part:
"The United States is the only important nation in the world that is now accumulating capital from its savings. It is also the only free investment market in the world, since all the great powers of Europe are pouring their savings and energies into the wretched melting pot of war. There are no indications, however, as yet, of American disposition to buy foreign government bonds with any freedom. A fair amount might be absorbed by institutions and trust funds here, especially if terms were made still more attractive; but the amount would be relatively small when compared with the many billions already issued abroad. If, then, American manufacturers are to continue accepting munition contracts, some very extensive credits or short term obligations, whatever they may be, will eventually have to be extended or turned into fixed debt in some form. It is well, therefore, to keep in mind as to what would be the effect of this immense mass of foreign credits upon American finances, especially in view of the fact that the market for these foreign obligations on this side will necessarily be limited. Of course, the credits thus far granted have imposed no financial strain here, and they could undoubtedly be greatly expanded without harm; but a new factor of great importance is being introduced into our finances, one with which American bankers and investors are not entirely familiar, and the handling of this problem successfully will require the greatest prudence and the most skillful foresight."

"Home conditions are generally satisfactory. The crop outlook is particularly so. Some deterioration has taken place, as usual in the summer months, and more may follow; but a bumper grain crop is now almost within reach, and the American farmer is practically sure of good demand and good prices for all food products, which mean another season of prosperity. The South is naturally disturbed over the cotton outlook, possibly more so than necessary. War has unavoidably deranged the cotton market, as it has many other commodities. It is the South's main product, and the restrictions imposed upon it by Great Britain have naturally created irritation. But such inconveniences are unavoidable under the circumstances, and the British government has in numerous instances given evidence of a desire to interfere with American commerce as little as possible; especially in not putting cotton on the contraband list. It is impossible to escape the derangements of the war; and so long as the sea is kept open we cannot make serious or very effective complaint. A tremendous wastage of cotton is going on in the battle fields of Europe—not to speak of the amount used in making explosives, which is estimated at from one to one and one-half million bales—and later on there will inevitably be a heavy demand for the staple to fill the void now being created. The steel trade is very active, chiefly, of course, the result of war munition orders. Prices are rising, and this great industry is certainly enjoying more prosperity than for several years. The dry goods trade shows a decided improvement, many buyers being in this market who are placing liberal orders for the new season's cotton fabrics."

"On the Stock Exchange there has been a fair degree of activity, and prices continue to fluctuate, as they must while our relations with Germany and Mexico continue in such a critical state. The war stocks lead all advances, and these shares now constitute fully one-half, if not more, of the daily transactions. A favorable factor is the continued broad market for bonds, which, with easy money and reasonably satisfactory crop and business conditions at home, constitute the satisfactory side of the market. Much depends upon the outcome of our negotiations with Germany, which for the time being, are an unsettling factor. Unfavorable dividend rumors and the spread of labor troubles must also be regarded as disturbing influences. The situation, however, is likely to continue to change almost daily."

"The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive. It forms convincing proof of merit. Mrs. C. L. Starr, 59 Hancock street, Newark, says: 'For years I was run down from kidney and bladder trouble. I was weak and had backaches and headaches made me miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills did me a lot of good, giving me strength and energy and making it possible for me to rest well.' (Statement given August 9th, 1910.)

SEEKS DAYLIGHT AFTER 25 YEARS

Latest Nerv-Worth Endorsement Comes from Madison Township.

"Before taking Nerv-Worth my wife had dozed for 25 years and had bought all kinds of medicine for nervous disorders. For about a dozen times a day her stomach, at times would empty itself of nothing but water. She could get deathly sick. There was a jerking in her sleep that made her very restless. Appetite very poor, stomach much out of order. While taking one bottle of Nerv-Worth there was practically no vomiting—she threw up but twice in all that time three weeks. Now she sleeps better, eats almost anything and digests it. She is better in every way. Feels so rested in the morning. Both my wife and I recommend Nerv-Worth to our friends."

A Nerv-Worth endorsement just received from J. W. Miner who lives in Madison township, Route 8, Buy Nerv-Worth at the T. J. Evans drug store. $1 a bottle. Guaranteed.

Toledo, O., July 26.—That the Cleveland bankers who control Charley Somers' financial affairs have taken charge of the Cleveland spiders and are in touch with local business men in an effort to locate the spiders here, is the substance of a report which is firing the local fans with hope that Toledo will not have to put through the whole season without a team. It is stated upon good authority that Somers' price of $150,000 will be lowered and that an agent will be here either today or tomorrow to make the deal.

The Advocate's Advertising School
LESSON NO. 2.

The good advertising writer never forgets that he is producing copy for a newspaper. The public reads a newspaper for the news. It is not looking primarily for general descriptions of the beauties of a town, or a general account of its every day occupations and interests. It wants to know what happened today, yesterday or last week. Any account of an event that has just taken place wins a great many more readers than a general description of an institution or the features of the town.

Similarly, so far as possible an advertisement should be a newsy account of the most important things that have just happened in that store. The merchant should give an account of the lot of goods that he has just bought and placed on his shelves. Every bout that a merchant has with salesmen and wholesalers is an event, which he can handle in a newsy way if he will. If he has a good bargain, he can tell the public about it and tell just why he thinks it is a good bargain. If he can't find any reasons for his belief, the chances are that he hasn't got a bargain that the public will be interested in.

Or if he is reducing prices on a lot of goods in order to clear them out and get his capital into cash, he should emphasize and explain this development in his business life as a news feature. In such ways he will conform and appeal to the intense public desire to know what is going on now, what has happened the day before.

There are always interesting events in the life of a business to write about. He should take the public into his confidence and tell them about it, make some consequence of it. Every reduction in price is news. These developments in every day retail trade are read in the homes quite as much as the dispatches from the European war.

WEIGHING THE GIRLS

BUT LISTEN—MRS. FARMY—IT ISN'T REASONABLE—BERTHA CAME HERE TO LOSE WEIGHT AND I CAME HERE TO GAIN—BUT HERE SHE HAS GAINED TWENTY POUNDS SINCE YESTERDAY—AND I HAVE LOST—!!!

GOOD HEAVENS—BERT—I WEIGH TWENTY POUNDS MORE THAN I DID YESTERDAY!—O-O-H! THIS IS AWFUL! AND I CAME HERE TO LOSE WEIGHT!

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY FIVE POUNDS EXACTLY—

BAREFANKS.

Illustration of a group of women in a room, one is being weighed on a scale.

It is hoped that the European generals never get in such a hurry to get into battle that they forget to pin on all their gold medals.

The sun rises these days not far from 4 o'clock but it would be impossible for many people to verify the fact other than by looking at the almanac.

Considering the hasty manner in which many men perform their ablutions, it is probably just as well that the low neck style has never spread to the masculine sex.

In many places it is customary on the adjournment of a term of court, for the jurors to give the judge a bouquet or other present. One can never tell when he may be arraigned as a prisoner in the same court.

The constant kicking by the summer boarders in regard to their food may not be due so much to faults in farm cooking as to the lack of other subjects of conversation which city people find in a quiet country neighborhood.

It is suggested as a safety measure that shrubs and other objects obstructing the view at railroad crossings be removed. Motorists like to feel sure that there is an even chance of getting out alive before crossing ahead of a train.

It is often said that any kind of man is very welcome at the summer resorts, but a man who can dance the fox trot is more warmly welcomed than one who can merely expound intelligently the currency system or international law.

Newark's second annual Chautauqua opens next Friday. The program is strong and the attendance should and doubtless will be large. The fact that the entertainments will be given in White Field, corner Eleventh and Church streets instead of at the corner of Sixth and Church should not affect the attendance.

"Supreme Court Takes the Teeth of Turner's Ruling," reads a newspaper headline. Mr. Turner will be remembered as the man who was elected last fall as attorney general of Ohio, who later ran a bluff on the legislature while overlooking the lobby activity there, and who recently made boast concerning money saved in his office. With this supreme court ruling it would seem that Ohio has gotten nothing for the amount that was spent.

Where the Money Goes.

The Census Bureau states that the average rate of taxation per capita has increased from $9.22 to $13.91 in 10 years. Few would have supposed that the increase was as large a proportion as this. It is the greatest single advance in cost of living. Other necessities have gone up, but few of them are 50 per cent more than they were 10 years ago.

Where has the money gone? Of course public work is usually expensive. The public official's idea of efficiency is often enjoining voters and cultivating useful political friendships. But these conditions existed equally 10 years ago, perhaps more so.

The American people within the past few years have realized the inadequacy of a great many public services. As a better educated generation comes on, it demands still better facilities. As humanitarian ideas spread, more generous treatment of the unfortunate is called for. Good roads, prison reform, charities, these eat up money fast.

No item of expense ever slips through more easily than a school appropriation. And in most places no department has advanced more rapidly in cost. In some places teachers' wages have risen rapidly. The people are no longer content with home trained teachers. They want sanitary, healthful, ventilated, airy, and sunshiny school buildings. They ought to have them.

Increase in cost of government seems inevitable. But there are a thousand petty wastes that could be saved. And many needless extravagances could be cut off. The town that was once satisfied with a plain unornamented school house now demands stone or buff brick. A simpler building would serve every purpose, except that of rivaling other towns. A halt must be called somewhere. Handsome public buildings do not draw in new residents as fast as a high tax rate drives them away.

Uncle Walt

THE HELLO GIRL.

We hear her silver voice, and mutter, "That dandelion surely is a peach!" She helps us earn our bread and butter, and brings all things within our reach. Intelligent and prompt, she labors we hear her voice by night and day, she makes us seem like good dear neighbors to folks a thousand miles away. She is the modern maid of magic, the mistress of a mite, and tidings glad, and tidings tragic, she sends us daily, over her wire. If she dropped out, the world, confounded, would stagger back and sputter and yelp, and Trade by all its lost surrenders, would raise a howling cry for help. If she no longer drew her weary confusion, could suddenly reign, and back into the pitch dark ages we'd sever we had been dumped again. She's hoisting science, art and learning, she is the prop of modern trade, she keeps the old world's wheels a-rolling, so we should bless the helio maid!

NO CAUSE

FOR UNITED STATES CONCERNING WAR WITH ANY COUNTRY IN EUROPE

Bryan Says to Fight Germany Would be Like Challenging an Insane Asylum.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
San Francisco, July 20.—William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state is of the opinion that those who are looking for "the big stick in the scriptures" would think the writers of Holy Writ were mollycoddles. He thus expressed himself in an address last night at the First Congregational church. He did not mention Colonel Theodore Roosevelt by name, but his address was full of obvious references to him.

"There is a phrase about speaking softly but carrying a big stick," said Mr. Bryan. "The man responsible for that phrase never found it in the Bible, and his reputation as a wise man could never depend on that alone. The trouble is you can't find a soft voice with a big stick. If a man has a soft voice he doesn't want a big stick. If he gets a big stick, he loses his soft voice."

The keynote of Mr. Bryan's address was that the United States has no warrant to conceive war against Germany, or any other European power.

"To go to war with Germany now," he said, "would be like challenging an insane asylum."

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. D. U. Bay had as their guests at Bay Cove, their suburban home on Church and Twenty-first street, the following relatives from Columbus: Mr. and Mrs. E. more Hutton and little daughter Isabel and Mrs. George M. A delicious repast was served after which the tired, but happy children were given an auto ride by Mr. John Miller. Gladys received many beautiful gifts.

The guests were Mary Belle Lake, Margaret Osborn, Lucile Ashman, Kathryn Ellis, Margaret Stanch, Frances Reynolds, Kathryn and Rebecca Miller, Florence McIntire, Laura and Evelyn Love, Lucile McDonald, Roletta and Ruth Patterson, Robert Lamp-ton.

Mrs. A. Schiff entertained with a pretty afternoon party on Saturday for her guest, Miss Carolyn Shaffner of Chicago, Ill. The hours were informally spent and luncheon was served. Your Boys and Girls

The luncheon to be carried to the kiddies picnic, presents problems that tax many a mother's brain. Little individual jars of jams and jellies are invaluable in planning for the luncheon. So are crackers and wafers of every sort—sweet, ginger, snap, oatmeal crackers, butter thins, five o'clock tea biscuit, and a host of others. Bottled foods are the most convenient; olives, figs, peanut butter, lunch tongue, deviled ham, tuna fish, sardines—all can be packed into the basket as they come or may be used for tasty sandwiches.

The wax paper wrapper that comes on every loaf of bread and the paraffin paper lining of cracker boxes should be treasured for wrapping sandwiches for the lunch basket. Paper napkins, paper plates and paper drinking cups make the luncheon outfit quite luxurious, and when an ordinary box is substituted for a basket, all may be thrown away and the children come home empty handed.

How Women Grow Fat By Swimming

Nona Leahy of St. Louis Louise Debus of Philadelphia Rose Pitonoff of Boston

Here is the proof in this good old summer time of what swimming will do for women. Let the stout lady beware, despite the fact that it is the finest exercise in the world. She ought, perhaps, to value her health more than her figure, and therefore swim as much as she can. But if she thinks her figure is of supreme importance she may as well understand that she can not take off weight in the water.

Nona Leahy was a little slip of a girl when she began to swim. See her now in this photograph. She is a powerful young woman, and she is yet very young. A few more years of it and she will have a figure like the third lady of the picture.

Miss Debus has admitted she gained ten pounds in 1914. She shows in this photograph as 140, and she does not know how much higher she will go.

The most convincing proof of the affinity of fat and water—water taken externally as well as internally—as in the case of Miss Rose Pitonoff. Six years ago when she started the public by her feats in Boston harbor she was a slip of a girl. She was strong, of course, but she weighed only 120 pounds. The other day she tipped the scales at 180. She had gained 60 pounds in six years and she is still under 25 years of age.

NUMBERING 8,000 GRADUATED IN OHIO WITH TECHNICAL MILITARY TRAINING

Probably Would be Available in Case of War, Adjutant General Estimates.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, July 20.—In case of war the state military department could get in touch immediately with probably 8,000 young men, between the ages of 23 and 30, who have received military training in Ohio colleges or universities, Adjutant General Hough declared today. He referred particularly to graduates of Ohio State University and Ohio Northern University, where two year courses in military drill and tactics are given.

Although no record of names and addresses of former students who received such military training are kept by the state military department, Adjutant General Hough pointed out that records of each school contain these and would be available to the military authorities. The only action that could be taken in case of war, would be to appeal directly to these men. They would be much more likely to volunteer if personal requests were made to them than if only general appeals were issued, however, it was declared.

Ohio State University has graduated annually for a number of years an average of between 400 and 500 young men with military training, and Ohio Northern University at Ada this year graduated about 200 former cadets.

"These form a reserve of considerable size which could be whipped into excellent military condition in a short time," said General Hough. "They probably would not be asked to enlist until after appeals would go to former members of the Ohio National Guard, which now constitute a grade of reserves. This army of former cadets is a valuable asset to the military strength of a state, however."

You know Ruth has found the best doctor . . . I've forgotten what his official title is, but he believes in exercise instead of medicine . . . Ruth hasn't been at all well lately and he has ordered her to ride horseback every morning . . . I met her at the club and she was wildly enthusiastic . . . She says it is the only time she has ever enjoyed being under the care of a physician . . . She looks awful-ly smart in a riding habit . . . Her brother's English tailor made it . . . The coat is of cafe-au-lait colored cloth and the riding breeches are brown and white check . . . She was wearing a black straw hat . . . Something between a derby and a top hat in shape—English, I suppose . . . I think I really must take up horseback riding again . . . I've just thought up a glorious costume, but I must get a white horse to go with it.

In Milady's Boudoir

Care of the teeth means systematic and thorough cleansing of each separate tooth twice or three times a day with tooth brush and water. A good tooth paste or powder should be used once a day, and raw silk passed between the teeth when they grow tem, and particularly digestive troubles in the stomach, will cause quick decay, even when they are carefully brushed.

The tooth brush should be renewed the moment it becomes soft and bristles loosened. A moderately stiff brush should be selected, though the use of a curved or straight brush is a matter of choice. As a rule, however, the curved brush does the most thorough work. The brush should be passed over the back teeth, inside and outside, and and upward and downward movement of the brush, especially on the front teeth, will achieve better results than a crosswise movement which merely polishes the surface and leaves the crevices between the teeth untouched.

If the teeth are not free from tartar, cleanse them once a month with powdered pumice moistened with diluted peroxide. Wrap a bit of absorbent cotton around an orange stick, dip in the powdered pumice, and apply to the teeth, rubbing gently until the tartar is removed. If there is the slightest tendency towards receding gums, consult a dentist at once. This trouble if not checked in time, may mean the loss of all the front teeth, and at best crooked and misshapen teeth.

INTO EASTLAND CATASTROPHE MAY BE MADE BY FEDERAL DEPARTMENT.

Board of Naval Officers and Civil-ians Probably May Be Appointed.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington 26.—A board of civil-ians and naval officers probably will be asked by the department of com-merce to investigate the Eastland disaster, in addition to the investiga-tion by the board of federal steam-boat inspectors acting. Secretary Sweet today prepared to make a recommendation for such an addi-tional investigation to Secretary Redfield.

The inspections required by law of the local board of steamboat in-spectors in such disasters, deal only with questions of carelessness, if any, or incompetency of licensed officers, and with the judgment of the in-spectors in passing the vessel on in-spection.

Mr. Sweet expressed the belief that there will be an investigation with a broader scope, conducted by men in whom the public would have greatest confidence because of their standing and experience.

Should Secretary Redfield decide not to appoint a board, it is probable that Solicitor Thurman of the de-partment, will be sent to Chicago to as-sist in the inquiry by the local board. Any assistance the solicitor might extend would be in the nature of advice as the local board is entirely independent of higher authority dur-ing its investigation.

Attorney General Gregory ordered agents of the department of justice to assist United States Attorney Cline in investigating the sinking of the steamer Eastland to determine whether there were violations of federal criminal statutes.

Wall Street

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 26.—War stocks were in good demand in the early trading today and considerably higher prices were established. Aside from this group of issues, the market was uncertain and irregular. The widest movement was in Bethlehem Steel, which was influenced by a report of its proposed new combination of steel companies. Bethlehem's eight points to a new high record of 216. Baldwin Locomotive and American Can also attained record prices, with the latter stimulated by reports of further large war orders. In the railroad section, Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley and St. Paul lost about a point each. Considerable heaviness was also shown by the various copper stocks. In the outside market sales were made of Electric Boat at 410, a rise of 18 points over Saturday's close.

The early advances held well during most of the morning session, but news of the torpedoing of the Leelanaw upset what promised to be a vigorous bull market. There was a quick re-verse, particularly among the war stocks, which had established ad-vances ranging up to 14 points in Bethlehem Steel. These were all cancelled and the general market fell to a level from one to five points under Saturday's close. Fluctuations of two to three points between sales were frequent on the downward slump.

In the early afternoon, shares were not helped by the buyers in speculations. In fact, they acted as though distribution were going on under cover of the strength of the market. The market was affected by concern over its di-vidend outlook and fell to a new low record at 7 1/2. Speculations of unsatis-factory trade conditions, the demand for the metal dwindling to tight propor-tions and consumers holding off for further price concessions. Bonds were irregular. On the curb Electric Boat slumped from 410 to 380.

APPEALS SENT TO MAYORS OF FIFTY CITIES

BY GOVERNOR WILLIS FOR SUPPLIES FOR STARVING OHIO MINERS.

Suffering is Terrible, and a Liberal Response Should Come From Over State.

COLUMBUS, July 26.—Telegrams appealing for supplies to be given starving miners in Southern Ohio were sent to mayors of fifty principal cities today by Governor Willis. In anticipation of generous response, the adjutant general's office prepared to dispatch several carloads of provisions to Hocking and Athens counties Wednesday.

National guard officers who returned from that district today after assisting in the distribution of four car loads of food sent there Saturday, reported evidences of ravenous hunger among miners and their families.

These reports were expected to stimulate contributions of food and money, many of which were received by Adjutant General Hough and placed to the credit of the miners' relief fund.

"We found a number of miners who were so weak from hunger they could hardly carry away the food we gave them," Lieutenant John F. Bailey, of Columbus, reported today, after returning from distributing centers at Athens, Buchtel and Orblston. "One woman cried when we handed her a basket of food for her family of nine children. She said they had eaten only berries and dry bread for a week. The average amount of foodstuff we gave for a family of four was a small ham, five loaves of bread, a sack of flour, four pounds of soup beans, and a half pound can of condensed milk." Such supplies as baking powder, soda, yeast and lard will be needed in large quantities, Lieutenant Bailey reported to Assistant Adjutant General E. S. Bryant, who has charge of all relief work.

Governor Willis' telegram to the mayors follows: "I appeal to you most earnestly to lend every possible assistance in alleviating the dire distress among miners and their families in southern Ohio. Please use your influence with your business men's organizations, churches and civic bodies to rush supplies to adjutant general's department. State officials will see to proper distribution. Situation demands immediate relief." Adjutant General Hough also sent memorandum orders to captains of all national guard companies in the state, asking them to co-operate with local authorities in collecting food supplies.

GREWSOME

PREPARATIONS MADE IN SING SING FOR EXECUTION OF CHARLES BECKER

While His Counsel Appears Before a Supreme Court Justice in Final Desperate Appeal.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, July 26.—Counsel for Charles Becker condemned to die Wednesday in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal appeared before Justice Ford, in the supreme court here today to begin the last fight to save their client's life. The wife of the police lieutenant entered the courtroom as W. Donker Cockran, chief counsel, opened the proceedings. He began by reviewing the ground upon which a new trial is desired and calling the attention of the court to evidence in the records which he said he would attack. Then he recalled events immediately preceding the killing of Rosenthal, laying particular emphasis upon the affidavit Rosenthal caused to be published. In this, the gambler charged that Becker was his partner in a gambling house.

When Rosenthal was killed, and Rose, Webber, Vallon and Scheppe were arrested, Mr. Cockran declared, suspicion naturally pointed toward Becker, and the district attorney "demanded of the four men under arrest that they disclose Becker's guilt."

Mr. Cockran read a statement in which the district attorney was quoted as saying he had held the four in jail and had "pounded them day after day, as he had considered it his duty before God to do."

"This explains the whole character of the trial," said Mr. Cockran. "Here were four men avowedly guilty and the district attorney pounded at them to compel them to disclose somebody else's guilt. There is also a signed statement in which the district attorney promises them immunity for their evidence. Here were four men, at least three with the halter about their necks, and we find an officer telling them that the halter would be drawn tightly and that they would be shamefully unless they put the halter around the neck of another."

Mr. Cockran then discussed the so-called Harlem conference where Becker was said to have given the final order that resulted in the killing of Rosenthal.

While the arguments for a new trial were in progress here preparations for Becker's execution were being made at Sing Sing prison. Today it was planned to take Becker from the death house for a short time and during his absence to remove from his cell virtually all of his personal possessions and anything from which a weapon might be fashioned. A black prison-made suit which he will wear to the electric chair, if a new trial is not granted, was to be furnished him when he returned to the death house. An extra guard was ordered at the cell door. Relatives said that Becker refused to believe he was to be executed but was preparing for the worst.

FOUR ARRESTS
FOLLOW PROBE
OF INSPECTORS

Following the investigations conducted here last week by inspectors from the state liquor department, four arrests were made Saturday and Sunday, on affidavits charging violations of the liquor laws. William Bergin, Hugh McKenna and L. J. Bolton were arrested for alleged violations at Buckeye Lake and Nellie Wagner was arrested for selling liquor at 28 Harrison street.

When arraigned before Mayor Bigbee Saturday, the Wagner woman entered a plea of guilty and was fined $100 and costs. She paid the amount.

Bergin, McKenna and Bolton all gave bond for their appearance for hearing next Friday. The Bolton case will be heard at 8 o'clock Friday morning and the Bergin and McKenna cases at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The affidavits against Bergin charge that from May 1 to July 21, he has kept a place for the illegal sale of liquor. That against McKenna charges the sale of liquor on June 11. Both men furnished bond in the sum of $300 for their appearance for hearing.

The affidavit against Bolton charges that he has kept a place at Buckeye Lake for the sale of liquor from June 1 to July 21. His bond was fixed at $500.

The affidavit on which the Wagner woman was arrested charged that she has sold liquor at the Harrison street place from Dec. 1, 1914 to July 21.

Dozens of witnesses were examined by the inspectors before the warrants were issued and from questions asked of these witnesses, it was evident that the inspectors were well informed as to the visitors who have been in the places in the past few months.

DETROIT TRACK
HEAVY; GOOD CARD
FOR FIRST DAY

DETROIT, July 26.—Although the program for the opening of Detroit's grand circuit met at the state fair grounds track this afternoon was somewhat overshadowed by the big stake races to come later in the week. The card was an exceptionally good one. Strong fields had been entered for each of the four events. Thirteen starters were named for the $305 trot, but for the other events the numbers were considerably smaller. Because of the rain which fell yesterday and last night there was uncertainty during the forenoon as to the condition of the track.

A Good One.
"Sorry not to have heard your lecture last night," said the loquacious bore. "I know I missed a treat; everybody says it was splendid." "I wonder how they found out," said Mr. Frodo; "the lecture, you know, was postponed."

ENGLISH COMMENT ON AMERICAN NOTE; ALSO FROM GERMANY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

London, July 26.—In an editorial discussing the paragraph in the American note to Germany, which invites the co-operation of the German government in securing the freedom of the seas, the Manchester Guardian says:

"This whole passage should be very carefully noted. It means quite plainly that in President Wilson's opinion this country is an offender against the principle of the freedom of the seas; we have in fact had several dispatches from President Wilson on this very subject and these, it is thought, shortly will be followed by another.

"He declines to discuss alleged infractions of the freedom of the seas with Germany now, but he says in effect that the cause might be different if Germany showed sincerity in her attachment to the principle of freedom at sea by abandoning her submarine campaign which is the most serious infraction of that freedom ever known. Let Germany do that and America and she may do something together for freedom on the seas. The whole passage may well be an occasion for some very serious reflections in this country."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Vienna, July 26.—Via London.—The Neue Freie Presse, expresses itself as unable to understand why the United States refused Germany's proposal for protecting the lives of American citizens at sea and although seeking the sanctity of American passengers, declined the practical means offered for securing this end. "It is a question," the paper adds, "whether the same stiff-neckedness would be observed against England."

Granville

(Special to The Advocate)

Granville, July 26.—The old town begins to feel the need of quiet, and at the close of the summer school session this week, there will be something of an exodus. Not only the students but most of the instructors will depart for vacations of longer or shorter duration, and the streets of the village perchance may revert to the old-time peace and quiet for a week or two at least. Until the repairs on the National Road are completed Sunday, automobile traffic through Granville will continue to be heavy.

Prof. William Gear Spencer of Hamilton, N. Y., who is spending the summer at his father's home in East Elm street, preached on Sunday morning in the Baptist church, and in the evening delivered the sermon for the union service in the Presbyterian church.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Stanton are celebrating their mother, Mrs. Boushall of Pittsburgh, at their home in East Broadway.

Miss Abbie Davies left today for Monticello, Tenn., where she will spend a month.

Prof. and Mrs. J. Warren Smith (Mac Peters), his mother-in-law, Miss Anne Peters, his daughter, Miss Audrey, and Mr. Earl Richards, all of Columbus, motored to Granville yesterday for a visit with friends. They were entertained at dinner at the Wartenbee home in Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hall and family of Newark were Granville visitors yesterday.

The week-end house-party at the Judge Swartz residence in East Elm street, was composed of Miss Enola Chambers, Miss Pauline Ireland of Cincinnati, Mr. Karl Babb of Xenia, and Mr. John Swartz of Newark.

Mr. John Hundley was a dinner guest at Bryn Du yesterday.

Messrs. F. C. and Homer Green of Delaware, O., were guests over Sunday at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chrysler in South Prospect street.

Prof. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson who were week-end visitors in Mt. Vernon, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Lowe have sold their handsome home in Cherry street to Mrs. William A. Stevens and will give possession in about a month. They already have purchased a home in Linden avenue, Newark, and will soon leave Granville, much to the regret of their large circle of friends and acquaintances here.

Rehearsals for the "Sleeping Beauty," soon to be staged by the clever young playwright, Miss Grace Chamberlin, for the benefit of the Granville Public Library, are progressing in a satisfactory manner.

The Children's Story Hour in the Public Library, was conducted on Friday afternoon by Miss Harriet Rogers.

Mr. Russell Griffith, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Griffith, returned Saturday from his summer vacation with friends in the East.

Mr. Burton Case is erecting a temporary structure in his young peach orchard in which to handle the fruit. The peaches will be sorted as soon as picked, and patrons can receive them fresh from the trees at a discount, besides enjoying the outing.

The friends of Rev. Charles Gilke, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist church, Chicago, who conducted the week of prayer for the colleges, will be interested to learn of his marriage today to Miss Alice Gensaulis Brown of Hinsdale, Ill.

Wrong Place.

A schoolmaster was lecturing upon the circulation of the blood. "If I stand on my head," said he, "the blood will run into my head, will it not?" The boys replied, "Yes sir." "Then," said the schoolmaster, "why does not the blood run into my feet when I stand upon my feet?" "Please, sir, it's because your feet ain't empty."—Chicago Herald.

MASONIC MEETING TO CONSIDER THE ZANESVILLE TRIP

The Eminent Commander of St. Luke's Commandery, No. 34, Knights Templar, has received notice that a formal invitation to the Commandery to participate in the laying of the cornerstone of Bethesda hospital at Zanesville on Sunday, August 8, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, F. & A. M., would be sent as soon as Cyrene Commandery of that place receives its dispensation. In the meantime the Masters of two Masonic Lodges there have extended an invitation to St. Luke's Commandery, and it will be acted upon at the state convocation to be held tomorrow evening. The members have already anticipated the invitation and are preparing to go down with a goodly number of swords in line. That matter, together with the question of attending the Grand Commandery meeting at Toledo on October 13 and 14 will be considered.

There will be a mass meeting of the Masons of the city in the lodge room on Wednesday evening of this week at 7:30 to consider the trip to Zanesville on Sunday, August 8, to assist in laying the cornerstone of the new Bethesda hospital. Newark Masons owe a debt of gratitude to the Zanesville brethren for their big turnout on dedication day and it is confidently expected that practically every member of the order in Newark will attend. It is hoped to have a big meeting on Wednesday evening to arrange for the trip.—H. S. Barlick, W. M. Newark Lodge; C. M. Roney, W. M. Acme Lodge.

BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING AND DESTROYED

(Special to The Advocate)

Jacksontown, O., July 26.—During the bad storm of last evening, the large barn of Andrew Green of near Bruno, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed at midnight in a very short time by the ensuing fire.

The contents of the barn, which consisted of thirty tons of hay, a new carriage and a set of harness, were destroyed. All horses in the barn were saved, however. The fire spread very rapidly and could not be controlled. The loss was partly covered by insurance.
